INTRODUCTION

I am a passionate and enthusiastic design educator with experience in both design industry and design teaching. Over the course of my work, I have gained the confidence that I can play a crucial role as a teacher who remains sensitive to student's unique needs, encourages imaginative thinking, offers positive support.

I research, locate, and incorporate a variety of resources to engage students through visual arts, performing arts, literature, and film. My goal is to foster and maintain an open, honest, communicative, and supportive classroom environment in which each student feels safe, secure, valued, and appropriately challenged.
